

BGIS is very pleased to announce the acquisition of Blue Fire Systems providers of fire services and system maintenance services in Victoria. Blue Fire Systems provides critical fire protection services including testing, inspection, repair, retrofit, upgrade, and installation services to ensure that customers are safe and compliant with stringent regulatory fire safety standards.

Blue Fire Systems team of 65 employees is led by Managing Director Dave Nuttall with the head office located at Mount Waverley, a SE suburb of Melbourne. The capabilities include electrical technicians, portable/ passive technicians, wet fire technicians, compliance managers and business support services. Blue Fire Systems services clients across 1,200 sites in the key sectors of transport infrastructure, aviation, water and gas utilities, hazardous facilities, major universities and healthcare. “We are very excited about the integration of the Blue Fire Systems team into the BGIS organisation,” said Dana Nelson, President and Managing Director, Asia Pacific, BGIS. “This move is aligned with our ongoing strategy to enhance our fire safety service offerings, particularly along Australia’s east coast. Further, it complements our existing technical services and directly addresses the increasing needs of their clients in this sector.”

Ms Nelson is delighted that Blue Fire Systems’ leadership team will continue to manage the business under the leadership of Daniel Howard, Managing Director, APAC: Self Perform & ITS.
